JAMIE DRAKE for LEWIS MITTMAN

It's important, as Jean Cocteau once said, not to confuse seriousness with gravity. Jamie Drake, the New York-based designer, doesn't. The man behind some of the country's most dynamic, distinctive, and livable interiors knows how to create delightful environments and craft décor that is as right for a particular place as it is for the person or family occupying it. Equally comfortable in traditional and contemporary styles, he has a natural gift for making modern interiors inviting, and enlivening traditional spaces with a fresh mix of contemporary elements. Drake's device of choice is color—used boldly, fearlessly, and with great flair. Says, Drake, “there is little that doesn't inspire me.”

Like many great designers, Drake seems to have been to the manor born. His numerous professional awards attest to the accuracy of that statement. Chief among them was his induction into the Interior Design Hall of Fame—Interior Design magazine's venerable acknowledgment of great achievement.

Among other achievements Jamie Drake has been included in the IFDA New York Circle of Excellence for interior design, and has received the Andrew Martin International Interior Designer of the year award.

Drake also received the 2000 D & D Designers of Distinction Award, and a recent Partnership for the Homeless Director's Award. An active member of the New York Chapter of ASID, he was vice president of the organization from 1994 – 1996, and received the chapter's Presidential Citation and Platinum Award. Drake also serves on the board of The Alpha Workshops.

“The glamour of Bel Air, the romance of a Venetian spring night, and the drama of the New York skyline on a crisp December evening,” says Jamie Drake, cheekily recalling the inspirations for his debut furniture collection. The Manhattan impresario—who has created interiors for everyone from Madonna to New York’s mayor, Michael Bloomberg—is not known for half measures. He’s brought his uninhibited élan to the new line he describes as “high style, with a bit of flash and a lot of glitter.”

The 19 pieces range from the luxuriose Swag side and armchairs, which have a Louis XVI-inspired oval back frame finished in silver leaf, to the wildly opulent Armore bed that dazzles with lacquered side rails inset with mirror and glass. As if that weren’t enough, it has a diamond-tufted upholstered headboard with Baroque curves and bedposts of clear crystal.
